'Forgets who he works for'

Reid said Menconi ignored voters when he voted to approve money for early-childhood education, even after voters rejected a tax for that purpose in November.

"Mr. Menconi is not responsive to the will of the voters," Reid wrote. "Mr. Menconi forgets who he works for."

Reid said Menconi also forced a second home-rule election after voters rejected the proposal in November. Menconi voted, along with the other commissioners, to put home rule on the ballot a second time. However, Menconi said he did not support a second election for home rule.

Menconi, a Democrat who lives in Eagle, was first elected in 2000 and was re-elected in 2004. Term limits will prevent him from running again in the 2008 election.

Reid said his group cannot tolerate the "fiscal irresponsibility" of Menconi until November 2008.

A majority of the community would like to see Menconi gone, including prominent people and "regular" people, Reid said. Reid declined to identify other organizers or supporters of the effort.

The effort is "not about parties" and it does not matter who replaces Menconi, Reid said.
